Values of Opensource

Peer review

Opensource code is actively checked and improved upon by peer programmers

Transparency

Open source allows you to check and track your data yourself.

Reliability

Open source code outlives its original authors because it is constantly updated

Values of

Opensource

Free of Cost

With open source the code itself is free

No vendor lock-in

Freedom for the user means that you can take your open source code anywhere.

Open collaboration

Active open source communities means that you can find help and resources.
